Mary Poppins

starring Julie Andrews & Dick Van Dyke

1964; color; 140 minutes

From the moment Mary Poppins (Andrews) floats into the Banks' household, things are never the same. The children, Jane and Michael, are swept into magical romps across the English countryside, tea parties on the ceiling, and madcap dances over the rooftops of London. Winner of five Academy Awards.

Sabrina

starring Humphrey Bogart, Audrey Hepburn & William Holden
Black & white, 113 minutes; 1954

A charming Cinderella story that garnered six Academy Award nominations. Hepburn stars as Sabrina, an impressionable chauffeur's daughter who is mad about David Larabee (Holden), a notorious playboy. Sabrina is whisked away to France by her father only to return a sophisticated lady of fashion. When she returns, David's head is suddenly turned towards her, but, David's brother Linus (Bogart), begins to pursue Sabrina himself to divert her from David's intentions. Directed by Billy Wilder.
